James (Zondervan Exegetical Commentary on The New Testament series Book 16) Craig L. Blomberg, Mariam J. Kamell

Designed for the pastor and Bible teacher, the Zondervan Exegetical Commentary on the New Testament examines the biblical text in its original environment. Notable evangelical scholars carefully attend to grammatical detail, literary context, rhetorical flow, theological nuance, and historical setting in their interpretation. Critical scholarship informs each step, but does not dominate the commentary, allowing readers to concentrate on the biblical author's message as it unfolds. While primarily designed for those with a basic knowledge of biblical Greek, all who strive to understand and teach the New Testament will find this series beneficial. The general editor for this enterprising series is Clinton E. Arnold The following focused sections help readers understand the text:

Literary Context: Explains how each passage functions within the book

Main Idea: Summarizes the central message of the passage

Translation in Graphic Layout: Presents a translation through a diagram that helps readers visualize the flow of thought within the text

Exegetical Outline: Gives the overall structure of the passage

Explanation of the Text: Provides interpretive insights into the background and meaning of the text

Theology in Application: Discusses how the message of the text fits within the book itself and in a broader biblical-theological context, suggesting applications for the church today
